Major concern at SC meeting--Homecoming

One and a half hours of tumultuous discussion concerning the number of underclassmen to be admitted to the Homecoming dance Oct. 20 proved futile at the student council meeting Monday night. After senior class president Bill Downard proposed to admit 100 underclassmen to the dance, student council secretary John Cates made a motion to admit 300.

After lengthy debate the motion was tabled and student council president Emil Labbe ordered a closed meeting of the council members to convene after the general meeting. Its purpose was to discuss and decide the problem of underclassmen attendance at the Homecoming dance. When Stuff went to press, that decision had not been reached.

In other reports concerning Homecoming activities, cash awards for club and hall decorations were announced. Prizes for club competition will be $50, $30, and $20 for first, second, and third places, respectively. The residents of the hall with the winning decoration will be entitled to $2.50 off the price of the ticket of every dance during the present academic year.

Bill Downard, senior class president, announced that the College Club Men, a nine-piece group from Purdue would be providing music for the dancers Oct. 20. All dancing will be done in the fieldhouse and refreshments will be served in the Rec hall.

Social committee chairman Jim Tuerff announced that there will be a student trip to Ball State Saturday, Oct. 13. All those going to the game will be required to travel by bus; bus tickets have been on sale in the cafeteria since Tuesday evening at a combined price of $4. Tuerff also announced that the college has tentative plans for a student trip to the DePauw game at Greencastle Oct. 27, followed that night by a mixer at St. Mary of the Woods in Terre Haute.

John Keane, assistant social committee chairman, announced a mixer scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 17, with St. Elizabeth's nursing school at Lafayette. Rosary college has invited St. Joseph's students to a closed informal mixer Sunday afternoon, Oct. 14, from 2 to 5. All interested Pumas were to contact Keane in Bennett hall.

According to Don Hoffman, scholastic committee chairman, an academic coffee hour will be scheduled for some time between mid-terms and Thanksgiving vacation. What will be discussed at that time has not been decided. Hoffman also said that Father Maziarz, the academic dean, will be willing to discuss any academic subject or person with the scholastic committee.

The meeting was adjourned and closed with a prayer led by the student council moderator, Mr. Richard Flynn.

Talent galore at 'Folk Fest'

By AUDREY URBANCZYK

Local and imported "folk" talent garnished the St. Joseph's auditorium stage last Saturday evening with the presentation of the Folk Fest.

The show began at 7:30 with student council vice-president Mick Kaminski assuming the responsibilities of master of ceremonies.

Kaminski was followed by Bob McHugh who explained that the "fest" was sponsored by several sophomore class members in anticipation of raising funds to finance a campus opinion paper.

Jim "direct from Greenwich Village" Tallon's Goliards rendered several Kingston-type songs which ended on a roaring-20's beat.

Last year's talent show performer, Huck Quigley, monologued his way through several more Jonathon Winters' pieces.

Seventeen-year-old night club singer Irena Zuckus, from Chicago's Maria high school, sang several English and French folk songs which merited an encore from pleased Pumas.

Jim Ross's "Three Seasons," a folk singing group, rendered several Chad Mitchell trio type selections except for their final number which ventured to suggest the marriage perils of a particular Puma personage.

The "fest" was brought to a close with the appearance of the featured act of the evening, the full-costumed Lithuanian Youth Conference dance ensemble. The sixteen boys and girls danced their ways through several old Lithuanian folk dances.

Annual president's reception set for Sunday; Fr. Gross to host

By BILL MC DONALD

Fr. Raphael Gross, C.PP.S., president of the college, will host his annual reception for parents of St. Joseph's students this Sunday, October 14. The day's activities will be preceded by a Mass at 11:30 for those parents who will have found it either difficult or inconvenient to fulfill their obligation before departing from their respective homes for Pumaville.

The program itself will commence at 2:30 in the afternoon with a welcoming address by Bill Downard, senior class president. With Downard presiding as master of ceremonies, as is the tradition, the officers of the National Board of College parents will be introduced. Father Gross will then address the parents, whereupon selections will be offered by the local band and Glee club. Fr. William Shields, C.PP.S., will speak to the convocation in his capacity as president of the local chapter of the parents' club, and the reception will then officially come to a close with refreshments served by the Chicago parents. The whole affair will take place in the fieldhouse.

The main functions of this reception are to acquaint the parents with the academic, cultural, and social life of St. Joseph's, as well as to strengthen the bond between home, family, and school. In the past, the very idea of such a reception has proven to be vastly successful, as has any attempt to bring the parents into the picture. Approximately 800 attended last year, and Father Shields is anticipating a substantial increase on that figure for this year.

Med school dean to address DKL, interview students

Dr. George Moon, associate dean of the Illinois Medical school, will speak tonight, Oct. 11, at 7:30 p.m. to the members of the Digamma Kappa Lambda on professions in medicine, dentistry and pharmacy. In the afternoon he will conduct private interviews with all students wishing to discuss these careers with him.

The DKL now has a membership of 74 and membership will remain open until after the meeting tonight. The annual Car Crunch under the chairmanship of Steve Dolniack will be in connection with Homecoming Oct. 20 this year.

The club is also planning a trip to the Argonne National Laboratories on Nov. 17. This field trip will be made in conjunction with the physics department. Other speakers and a student panel discussion on THE PHENOMENON OF MAN are planned.

'Questing Beast': a forum of opinion and commentary

By RUSSELL CARSON

"To instill in the student body the spirit of the right of criticism, and the right of free expression." This is the policy, according to David Roche, sophomore, of the proposed new campus publication, The Questing Beast.

Roche, co-editor with Robert McHugh, another sophomore, explained the significance of the Questing Beast as a title and a symbol in this way: "The Questing Beast is a mythical creature that flies forever around the earth. Grotesque in appearance, with the head of a serpent, the body of a leopard, the buttocks of a lion, and the feet of a hart, it shall never be brought to earth by any man or god." Such a creature, Roche and McHugh feel, symbolizes what they hope the spirit of this publication will become, a spirit that will never be brought down.

When asked exactly what this spirit was, Roche answered that it would be a continuation of the kind of spirit that the Thinking Men, or Angry Young Men, displayed last year. This anonymous group, which went by either name, dedicated itself to the vehement criticism of various institutions, practices and policies of the administration and the student council. Roche qualified his statement, however, by saying that the publication would not be as radical as was this group.

Roche and McHugh said that there would be two editorials in each monthly issue, in addition to several by-lined articles expressing views on campus problems, world affairs, politics, science, etc. He said that the articles would be little edited and that anyone, whether on the regular staff or not, could contribute articles as long as he allows his name to be printed with the article.

The question of whether or not the administration knew about the proposed publication, and if they did, how they felt about it, brought this answer from Roche: "Father Girt, dean of men, has given his enthusiastic approval, and other members of the administration were disposed favorably toward the idea."

The question of finances for the paper elicited the only hestitant response. Both McHugh and Roche stated that they would need quite a bit of money to get the paper started, and that a price of 15 to 20 cents would have to be charged per issue.

The co-editors ended the interview by saying that, although they were not over-optimistic about the success of their venture, they felt that the campus needs such a paper, and that they had a good chance for success.

'Measure' material deadline is Oct. 15

The deadline for first drafts of articles, essays, fiction, or poetry to be considered for publication in Measure, the campus literary magazine, is Monday, Oct. 15. According to Measure co-editors Eberhard Gabriel and Dan Zawila, the first drafts will be read and returned to the authors with suggestions for their final drafts, which will be due on the last day before Thanksgiving vacation.

The Measure co-editors are also looking for artistically inclined students who would be interested in doing artwork and illustrations for the magazine. These interested students should contact either of the co-editors in person, or mail a card to Box 701, Campus, with their name, hall, room number, and the word, Art, on the card.

Last year's Measure received First Class Honors from the Associated Catholic Press critical service. It received 785 points and missed All Catholic Honors, the highest rating given by the ACP, by 15 points. The Measure co-editors hope to better the magazine this year, but they said that it depends upon student participation and cooperation. The moderator of Measure is Fr. Alvin Druhman.

'Stuff' welcomes 'Beast' asserts own independence

Last week STUFF celebrated its twenty-fifth year as the St. Joseph's College student newspaper. It was noted that, a quarter of a century ago, when the college had only some 290 students, there was no campus newspaper. Now, 25 years later, with some 1100 students, St. Joseph's College is to have two newspapers.

True, the new will be only mimeograph and only monthly. True, that it will be a much, much different type of newspaper than STUFF, concerning itself primarily with opinion on campus, local, national and international issues. But it is another newspaper, with all the potentiality for good and for positive action that any campus newspaper, printed or mimeographed could ever have.

Its staff has already demonstrated themselves as more than enterprising, in the method they have used to raise funds for their project. They have proved themselves willing workers in the time and thought they have already put into it.

But, in the advent of a new campus publication, there are certain points which should be restated and clarified.

Despite popular opinion to the contrary, STUFF, as campus newspapers go, is relatively free. Over and above its normal selfimposed restrictions of prudence and good taste, STUFF has only one major restriction—it is not allowed to print contributions from faculty members.

Save for this the paper speaks editorially as it sees fit.

This editorial freedom has not been hampered in any way by the fact that STUFF is not truly financially independent. The cost of STUFF is included in each student's tuition charges and the money is appropriated to the newspaper by the college. But, it is to the credit of all concerned that, in those occasions where STUFF has seen fit to criticize the administration or some administrative policy, there has never been suggestion or implication of any restriction on the paper's finances.

It is important to define clearly these two points—editorial and financial freedom—as they exist to clear up a prevalent misconception.

The staff of the new campus publication would be mistaken to believe that because of financial freedom, they will have unlimited editorial freedom. Rather, they will find that, once they have saddled themselves with the responsibility of managing a newspaper, the restriction of prudence will present itself. And, more important, it would be utterly senseless to believe that the administration will tolerate irresponsible or rabble-rousing criticism simply because that criticism is not supported by tuition funds. Hence their editorial freedom will not differ substantially from that of STUFF, but this is hardly a restriction. Fortunately the staff of the new publication is aware of this. But for a time, they will have to face a student body that is not.

In the last analysis the greater difference between the two publications will be not in the degree of editorial freedom, but in content. STUFF is a newspaper. News is its primary purpose. The new publication is an opinion forum. It will concern itself with commentary rather than reporting.

With this in mind, STUFF welcomes THE QUESTING BEAST to St. Joseph's. To its staff, who have little journalistic experience, but enough energy and sincerity to compensate more than enough for that lack, we wish the best of luck.

Valpo 'commends' St. Joseph's spirit

Dear Editor:

Please permit me to use your paper for a few comments which I would like to direct to your fellow students.

First of all, congratulations once again to your football team on a well-deserved victory! While the defeat was a hard one for us at Valpo, your well-coached squad deserved to win, and we are pleased to add our congratulations to the many others which I'm sure have been extended. The rivalry between our two schools has always been keen, and I must confess that there have been some St. Joe victories in the past where I couldn't offer my sincere congratulations. This win was certainly not one of them, and as I said to your team in their dressing room after the game: "You played hard, yet clean, and you deserved to win!"

Secondly, I would like to commend your students on their loyalty and spirit. I'm sure that your squad was inspired by the tremendous enthusiasm which was created by the large following of St. Joe faculty and students who were in attendance at the game. We think this is a healthy sign and hope that you will continue to support your squads in the same manner throughout the year. An apology is in order for the lack of seating, and I hope that your students understand the circumstances which kept us from having enough seats available on a field which was not our own. With our expanded facilities, I can assure you that we will be in a better position to adequately handle the crowd at our basketball game this coming winter, and I hope that an equally large group of supporters will be present.

Thirdly, a brief word of thanks to the St. Joseph's family for their self-control in this spirited rivalry. While our band was interrupted by a few thoughtless students in an incident we hope won't be repeated in the future, the majority were well-behaved, and their enthusiasm and spirit were channeled into proper bounds. Let's continue the same in the future!

Cordially,
Richard P. Koenig
Director of Athletics
Valparaiso University

Ed. While we are sincerely sorry that there have been some St. Joe victories in the past where you couldn't offer your "sincere congratulations," we find it difficult to stand by and let members of our student body be labeled as thoughtless for following a course which, under the circumstances, was only prudent. Their action was not as you would have it, malicious. Rather, they were simply trying to protect an investment which to St. Joe students is almost as sacred as your own beloved bell. In fact, if anything the disturbance was due to the action of several hundred thoughtless students who were not from St. Joe. We do, however, join you in the hope that the incident won't be repeated in the future.

Pumaville Fever

Seniors (?) mob mixer

By DAN ZAWILA

Evaluation of a St. Joe mixer: hit and run at home!

Approximately 500 seniors were at Saturday night's mixer. Socially, the class of '63 is massive.

Overheard Saturday night Department:
She: Are you really a senior?
He: Why don't you kiss me and find out!

Certain Mundelein freshmen reported that they now have beds in a room in their gym, but they didn't mention anything about a new course.

In anticipation of another Student Council letter: "All we expect is that you, the students, appreciated those lucious beauties who primped for the mixer, and that you mixed by grabbing yourself a girl."

Needless to say, last Friday night's theological pep rally went up in smoke.

Friday night at Wahl's, some senior Pumas celebrated Mary Ann McGillicutti's birthday in true French syle. Lanque francaise, quelqu'un?

As a prelude to the first showing of Five Finger Exercise Saturday night, SC president Emil "Rickets" Labbe, led a two finger exercise in the Rec hall before the football game.

The art of winning football and cussing along the sidelines has returned to the Pumaville gridiron.

St. Joe's new play: Anderson fumbles to Schreiber.

Bill Vaught, Pumaville's Mitch Miller, has degenerated to cheerleading at football games. He now has an assistant, Steve Murphy, the hunchback of second floor Drexel.

There's been a great deal of stork activity in the St. Joe domain, so much so that the Pumaville wives may write a book, The Return to Fertility Row.

Howie Ruppel has a problem: he can't find a mailbox.

Ron Bonato has been burning incense in his room—before a 12" Buddha figurine named Emily.

Jim "the hairy marlboro girl" of pep rally fame Couhig now dreams he built an Appian way in his maiden-form bra (behind the Science building).

The second phase of the stumpy stool program went into effect with the strategic placement of green garbage cans in areas of high trash fallout. This new frontier calls for a slogan: "In it; not at it!"

Confidential to certain Pumaville twisters: Rosary mixers are never like the Cabana Club.

There's a new organ on campus, The Questing Beast. For 20c you get the head of a serpent, the body of a leopard, and the buttocks of a lion. Just another facet of St. Joe social life.

Last week marked the end of an era. Pumaville passed from the hairy, Cromagnon age into the Pro-shaven period. To Girt your teeth or bear it, that is the question.

In anticipation of an ad in next issue of Stuff: Wanted, refined young columnist, who can spell and is not a turtle.

Council Critique

Useless discussion was feature of Monday meeting

By DAVE CUNNINGHAM

It is a popularly held opinion that beating a dead horse is a useless pastime, unlikely to achieve any positive results. On Monday, October 8, at 7:30 p.m., the Student Council held a horse-beating carnival.

The main issue to be resolved was who should be allowed to attend the homecoming dance and festivities. The discussion was long, loud, and generally off the point. Side issues were hotly contested, and irrelevant matters were the subject of aggressive debate. Student faction battled student faction to a dead standstill and yet the arguing went on . . . and on . . . and on.

The primary trouble, of course, was that no one knew what was going on. All of the key questions went unanswered, probably because they had not been previously asked. The meeting turned into a verbose free-for-all with ungrounded opinions and baseless facts being tossed back and forth.

The real issue, it seems to me, is this: are our facilities here at St. Joe's great enough to accomodate the alumni plus all students and their dates who wish to attend? Brother Gerard, who knows Raleigh hall better than the back of his hand, said that there will be seating capacity for 500 people—250 couples. In the light of this fact, it seems reasonable that a SOUND estimate of the number of alumni returning and the number of seniors planning to attend should have been made some time ago. Once this is known, a little subtraction would have been sufficient to find out if there is room for the underclassmen.

As of last Monday night, no one knew how many of any classification were planning to attend. I don't think that anyone at the meeting intended to exclude underclassmen because they are underclassmen; rather, there are definite physical limits which we cannot argue away.

Perhaps a lesson or two have been learned from all of this. One worth thinking about is that premature invitations are not easy to retract gracefully.

Pumas smash Evansville Aces 14-2

St. Joe now has 2-1-1 record

By CHARLES J. SCHUTTROW

St. Joseph's Pumas coupled a quick-hitting air and ground attack with an air-tight defense Saturday at St. Joseph's field to defeat Evansville's Purple Aces, 14-2.

Quarterback Dennis Houlihan, halfback Phil Zera and fullback Jim Betz spearheaded the Pumas' attack.

The victory gave St. Joseph's a 2-1-1 season record. They are now 2-0-0 in the Indiana Collegiate conference, good for a first-place tie with DePauw University.

Mid-way in the first quarter the Aces penetrated to the Pumas' 14 after a short punt gave Evansville the ball on St. Joseph's 36.

Following the 22-yard pass interference call which moved the ball to the Pumas' 14, Zera throttled the Aces when he intercepted quarterback Kim DeVault's pass on the St. Joe seven and returned it to the Evansville 45.

Six plays later Betz raced to the Aces' one-yard line on a 30-yard draw play. Following an offside penalty against Evansville, quarterback Dennis Anderson plunged into the line but fumbled.

Tackle Dick Schreiber recovered for the touchdown. Guard Rich Ostrowski kicked the extra point and St. Joseph's led, 7-0, with 2:40 to play in the quarter.

Mid-way in the second quarter Zera intercepted another Evansville pass on the Pumas' 35 and returned it to the Aces' 25. On the first play Houlihan passed to Huck Quigley for what appeared to be a touchdown, but an offside penalty nullified the score.

Five plays later Houlihan threw 13 yards to Zera for a touchdown. Ostrowski kicked the p.a.t. and the Pumas led, 14-0, with 6:30 to go in the half.

Following a scoreless third period, end Bill Stucke recovered halfback Don Bian's fumble on the St. Joe 47. Although the Puma defense held, tackle Charlie Zausch punted out of bounds on the St. Joe five.

On the first play Zausch tackled Anderson in the end zone for a safety. St. Joseph's led, 14-2, with 11:30 to play.

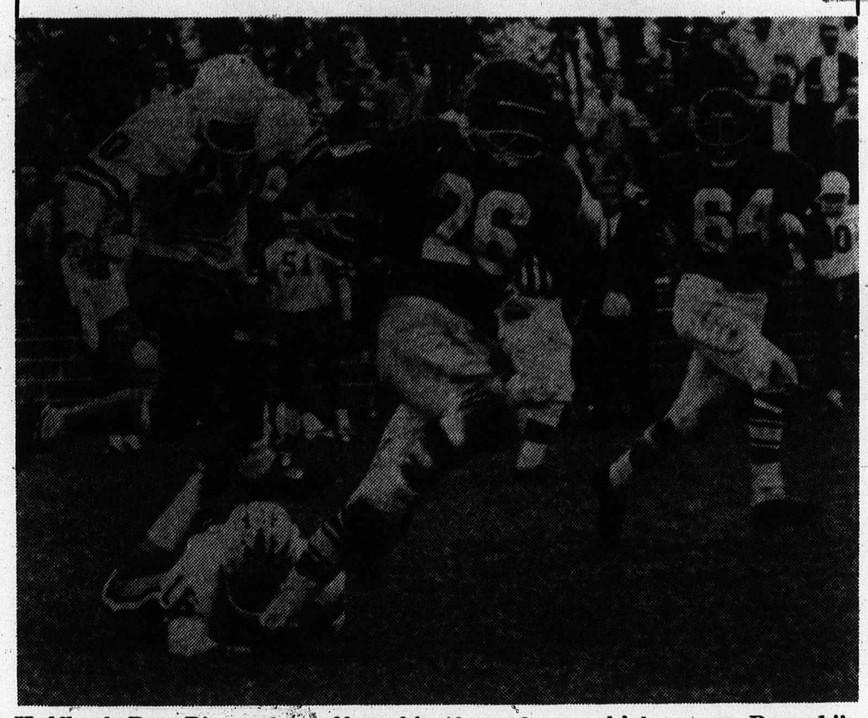
Five minutes later the Pumas launched an 84-yard drive, highlighted by Bian's 43-yard run, which carried to the Aces' seven yard line. When the march stalled, guard Ron Boguski attempted but missed a 24-yard field goal with three minutes to play.

St. Joseph's outgained Evansville 293 (242 rushing, 51 passing) to 73 (50 rushing, 23 passing). The Pumas gained 13 first downs to Evansville's six.

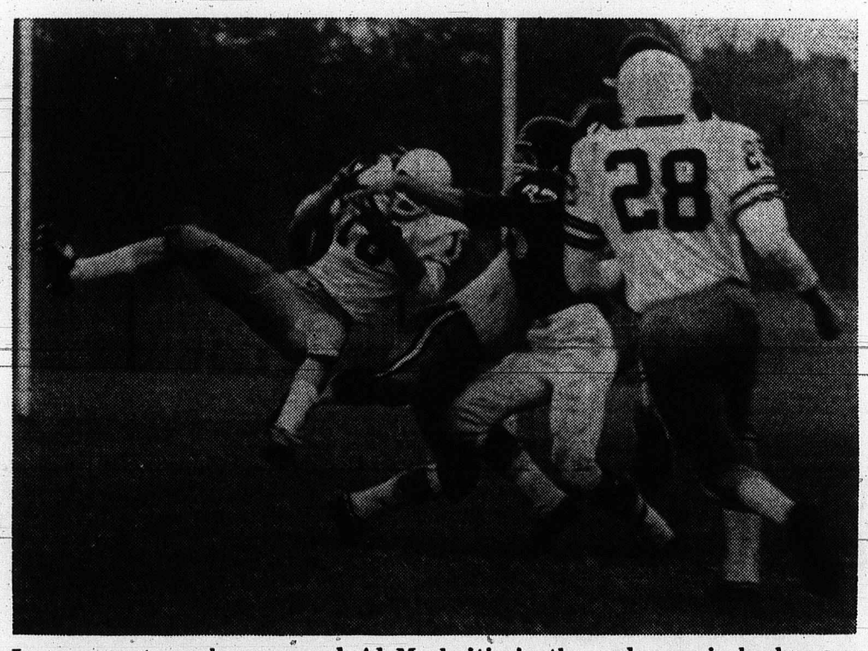
Bian (nine attempts, 77 yards) and Betz (seven attempts, 51 yards) led the St. Joe ground gainers. Anderson completed one of five passes and Houlihan completed four of ten passes for 56 yards and one touchdown.

St. Joseph's	7	7	0	0	14
Evansville	0	0	0	2	2

Bian breaks away



Halfback Don Bian takes off on his 43 yard run which set up Boguski's field goal attempt in the fourth quarter.



Long pass to sophomore end Al Mockaitis in the end zone is broken up by three Evansville defenders.

Frosh gridders battle Valpo to 14-14 stalemate

By BURT ANNIS

Sparked by fullback Bill Nancarrow, who scored fourteen points while gaining 104 yards in 22 carries, the frosh gridders shot out to a 14-0 lead over Valparaiso, then hung on through a fourth quarter Crusader rally for a 14-14 tie.

The turning point of the game came late in the fourth quarter, when, with two minutes remaining, the Pumas failed in a fourth down and three yards to go situation, giving the ball to Valpo on the St. Joe 29 yard line. Five plays later, highlighted by a 16 yard pass, Valparaiso scored, tying the game up. But the determined Pumas stopped the try for the extra point that would have put the Crusaders in front.

After the ensuing kickoff, quarterback Dan Maloney completed a 16 yard pass to end Warren Benko at midfield, but time ran out four plays later with the ball there.

St. Joe received the opening kickoff, and moved the ball sixteen yards, Nancarrow gaining fifteen of them, before being forced to punt.

Valpo was held for no gain, and after receiving the punt on the 47, St. Joe marched 53 yards in 11 plays for their first score. The series was highlighted by a 16 yard fourth down pass from Maloney to Benko, with Nancarrow taking the ball over from one yard out. The kick for the point was wide.

St. Joe scored again in the third quarter, Nancarrow climaxing a 34 yard drive with a one yard plunge. He then ran three yards for the two point conversion play to give the Pumas a 14-0 lead at the start of the fourth quarter.

MacNamara sccored Valpo's first touchdown with a 29 yard run to pay dirt. Larson added the two extra points.

SJ travels to Ball St. Saturday

By HUGH MARTINELLI

"We'll have to play much better next Saturday if we expect to win," said head coach Ed Dwyer following St. Joseph's 14-2 win over Evansville last Saturday on St. Joseph's field.

The Pumas, 2-1-1 after last week's victory, will engage a highly improved Ball State team before a Homecoming Day crowd, at Muncie Saturday. The Cardinals beat Eastern Michigan 14-0 in a non-conference game to open their season. A "fired up" Ball State team snapped Butler's 16 game winning streak with a 28-28 tie and last week lost a 7-6 squeaker to DePauw. According to coach Dwyer any team that ties the powerful Butler Bulldogs must be respected. St. Joe and DePauw are currently leading the ICC, with identical 2-0 records. The Pumas will be trying to avenge last years 8-0 loss to the Cardinals.

Ball State and St. Joe are even up at 7-7-3, in their 22 year old series. The Pumas have won five games since 1955, but the Cardinals have won the last two games in the series.

First year coach Ray Louthen has 18 returning lettermen with the hope of bettering last years 2-5-1 record, although he maintains this is a rebuilding year for the Cardinals. Coach Louthen relies mainly on a running game led by quarterback Terry Bonta. The Cardinals possess a speedy backfield in halfbacks Joe Robinson and John Walker, both averaging better than 5 yards per carry. Walker, also a member of the track team, is the fastest man on the squad.

Other regulars back from the 1961 squad include: ends George McKay and Larry Hammell, tackles Frank Cerqueira and Dave Welcome, guards Ted Huber and Jim Freeman, halfback Joe Burvan. Top sophomore prospects look like halfback Mervin Rettenmund, fullback Denny Cornelius, tackle George Meek and guard Tony Guth.

The alternate Cardinal unit, known as the "Wild Men" have been highly effective thus far in the season and should bear watching this Saturday.

The Puma camp suffered two serious setbacks in the last week. Starting fullback Jim Betz has been lost for an indefinite period with internal injuries and reserve halfback Jim Braet re-injured his knee during his first practice session in three weeks. He will be sidelined for the remainder of the season.

The ICC coaches poll recently showed Ball State ahead of the Pumas but they also placed arch-rival Valpo and Evansville ahead of St. Joe and both were toppled by the Pumas. In fact, Valpo and Butler were picked to share the Indiana Collegiate conference championship, but the Puma rooters hope for a sweeter outcome. The next goal is to bring home a third ICC victory from Ball State.

IM football underway; set date for distant walking race

By JIM FORD

Now that the IM football season is in full swing more activities have been planned for those who have a desire to demonstrate their athletic prowess on the gridiron.

Coach Merki has announced that the distance walk will take place on October 18 for anyone interested. Among the events listed are a distance walk which will begin at the bowling alley, proceed to the main entrance, past the bookstore, past the water tower, down the back road of Halas, south on the country road to the end and then north to Bennett, back to the Halleck Center, down the road, past the Rec hall and end up on the 50 yard line of the football field. To the victor goes the trophy which will be well-earned and much deserved.

On October 25 the annual skill contests will be held on the football field. The events include a distance punt, distance kickoff, extra point accuracy, a distance pass, and an accuracy pass which will consist of throwing the ball through a tire.

The intramural cross country race has already been held with David Rubner taking first place and Carl Bossung finishing second.

The annual football championship will begin during the last week of October. In order that a definite schedule can be worked out, the champion of each division will play in the championship. In case of a tie within the same division there will be a playoff with the winner representing the division in the championship playoff.

The winner of the championship game will be the intramural champion of the school and will take home the coveted trophy which shows them to be the champion of champions.

The basketball season will begin sometime in early November so watch the intramural mailbox located in the north end of the Rec hall for information.

Marian falls victim to Puma net squad

BY JOHN KEANE

The St. Joseph's tennis team soundly romped their Marian opponents Oct. 6 in the first match of the new fall season. St. Joe swept all but one of the singles and all of the doubles matches.

Bill Currie began for the Puma squad by winning against Marian's Joe Kempn 4-6, 12-10, and 7-5. John Luxem followed and won over Marian's Gasal Harvarth 6-0 and 6-0 with St. Joe's Bredan Choi beating Joe Johnson 6-0 and 6-3.

Dan Sorg defeated Marian's Viles Dabis 6-2 and 6-2. The only St. Joe loss came when Marian's Pat McCormack defeated Tom Miller 6-4 and 6-3.

In the doubles matches the team of Bill Currie and Bredan Choi downed the Marian squad 6-1 and 6-3. Another doubles match wrapped up the afternoon with the team of John Luxem and Dan Sorg defeating Marian's second doubles team 6-1 and 6-0.

There is a tentative re-match scheduled with Marian for the afternoon of Oct. 20, but coach John Sorg said much depends on what the weather might be.

The win over Marian should give the tennis team an optimistic outlook towards what the 14 match spring season will bring.

Homecoming activities to open Oct. 19; Pumas to face Butler

Homecoming weekend activities will open on Friday, Oct. 19. Alumni, seniors, and juniors will be making their way to dances, parties, and dinners, which will be climaxed by the Pumas meeting their conference foe, Butler, last year's ICC champions, in a sizzling gridiron clash.

Friday evening will be the kickoff of the Homecoming with a pep rally and bonfire starting at 7:00 p.m. Seniors will fill the Rec hall for a dance from 10:00 p.m. till 1:00 a.m.

Registration of alumni will take place from 9:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 20, in the Rec hall and in the Alumni offices. From noon till game time all halls will hold open house. All resident students in all halls must have their doors open. Dates will be allowed to visit their escorts' halls and rooms.

Following the game, the senior-alumni cocktail party will be held in the fieldhouse. During the party the presentation of various awards will take place, among which will be the Rudy Volz Memorial Trophy given to the most valuable player of the Homecoming game. At this time the underclassmen will have a record hop in the Rec hall.

In the evening a buffet dinner has been tentatively scheduled for 6:30 in the Rec hall. The Homecoming dance will take place in the fieldhouse at 9:00 p.m. A canopy will join the fieldhouse and the Rec hall, where tables, food, and beverages will be available. Music will be provided by the College Club Men, a nine piece band from Purdue University.

Sunday will be the closing of the long weekend with a High Mass offered for the alumni at 11.00 a.m.

Vaught named as yearbook editor

Bill Vaught, a senior from Cincinnati, Ohio, has been chosen editor for the 1963 edition of Phase, the student yearbook. Bill graduated from Elder high school in Cincinnati and is presently majoring in management at St. Joseph's.

He was secretary of his class last year and was also manager of the Rec hall. He was social section editor of the 1962 edition of Phase.

Besides being editor of Phase, Bill is committee chairman for Homecoming and is active in student activities.

Sociology club talks about future plans, considers seminar

The Sociology club had its first meeting of the year Sept. 27. Dues were collected from 20 members and future plans of the club were discussed.

The club will sponsor a coffee hour for its members on Oct. 11, at which time the book of the month, The Vanishing Adolescent, will be discussed. It will be evaluated in a sociological frame of reference.

Letters have been sent to various mid-western colleges and universities in order to line up speakers to address the club. Plans are also being made to hold an on-campus seminar at which time a specific sociological problem would be discussed.
